Douglas vs. Douglas and the Missouri Compremise.

From: Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill. 1860. The Missouri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of our glorious. Union—on origin akin to that of the constitution of the United States, conceivto that of the constitution of the United States, conceiv-milin the same spirit of Internal affection, and calcula-ted to remove forever the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.— All the evidences of public upinion at that day seem to indicate that thus compromise had become concentrated in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to From Douglas' Speech at Providence, Aug. 3, 1863.

How Non-Intervention Works.

"I believe that it is the right of the south to demand "I believe that it is the right of the south to denated and the duty of congress to extend, protection of persons and property of every kind (including slaves) in the tri-vitories during their territorial state."—Herschel V. Johnson.

From Donglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1860 From Donglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1850

"It is part of the history of the country that under this doctrine of non intervention, this doctrine that you delight to call squatter accretingly, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected alavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have converted a tract of free territory unto stave territory, more than five times the rise of the state of New York—
Under this decirine stavery has been extended from the Ric Grande to the Gulf of California, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 38 deg. 30 min., but up to 88 deg—graing you a degree and a half more stave territory than you ever claimed."

Mr. Douglas' Speech at Chicago.

Mr. Douglas' Chicago speech is largely tinctured with his favorite topic, the negro He has a great deal more to say about this subject than any thing that concerns white men. Homestead laws, tariffs, harbor improvements, Pacific railroads, are ignored to enable him to play upon the prejudices of the people against the African race. We hear that Mr. Douglas complains that he can get nothing done in congress on account of the everlasting discussion upon the negro question. If he had never opened that question by the repeal of the Missouri compromise, it would not now occupy public attention. If he would set the example of speaking upon some other subject, while he electioneers for himself, it would not be so much the topic of political discussion among the people.

If Mr. Douglas, and his followers, would not continually misrepresent the republican sentiment upon this subject there would be much less said in relation to it; but he never states the question fairly. It always suits his purpose to weave into his speeches recently invited him to visit Boston. In the charge that republicaus intend to use accepting the invitation he communicated the power of the federal government to abolish slavery in the states. This is not true. A more fiendish act we have never been called on to record. Whatever may have been the provocation for vengeance, on the woman's part, no such act can be justified. Murder outright would have been more tolerable. Scalding water, repeatedly applied, would have been less cruel than a single dash of vitroil. EXPANSION AND CONTRACTION -- The committee of the Renfrew ball in New York have been compelled to so far modify their arrangements for I that Loccasion, as to reduce the number of tickets for ladies one quarter, after a careful measurement of the area of the Academy of Music and a comparison of this with the expanse which would be covered by seventeen hundred and fifteen ladies in full dress. Allowing, on the average, each lady a circle of five feet in diameter (which is the smallest space within which a properly dressed woman would think of coording herself,) and awarding the spherical triangles formed by the touching of these magic circles to gentlemen, it must be admitted, says the World. that the new regulation is based upon a ju-dicious computation of the capacity of the

THE EFFICACY AND SIGNIFICANCE OF SI-LENCE.—One thing is noticeable in Garibaldi. He makes no speeches, indulges in no proclamations, and has kept clear of all gaudy rhetoric! How different from Mazzini and Kossuth, and the generality of agitators-men whose patriotism evaporates in

The mouth is the great safety-valve for sedition and rebellion. Ireland would have been revolutionized long since but for the fatal gift of eloquence in her sons. The pent-up steam of disaffection, instead of beng suffered to accumulate in volume sufficient to rend and upheave the political fabric, was suffered to blow of in noisy vapor ings. So it has been to Italy, so in Germany, so through all Europe. Lamartine and the grators were the escape pipes through which the fires of the French revolution of 1848, ready to deluge, with Vesu-vius eruptions, all Europe, found a harmless vent.

We do no underrate the danger of disunion to these states. But while the yawning maw of Yancey is open, and the rhetoric of Rhett blows off, there will be no need to fear. It was dumb Cromwell and the silent William that created the two revolutions in England. The talking Bonaparte, Lucien, was nobody; Washington was no speech maker; and now comes Garibaldi, who nev er made a speech, to complete the list of effective revolutionists.

In the great crush of people that came down to the dock to "welcome" the Prince of Wales at his landing in Detroit, one man got wedged against a fixed table, so closely that to save his ribs he crawled under and The Land Warrants and Eastern Ext. THE above are First Class, justity popular, and prompt paying companies: They invite Investigation into their condition and solicit instances entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and bonorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreclated below par, and are every way more reliable and parmanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times—of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their, capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for ilberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid. CAPITAL AND SUBBLUS,

New York Life Insurance Company, CASH CAPITAL OVER . $1,900,000 all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so all well invested for the benefit of Febry honders, or that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. EXPANSION AND CONTRACTION.—The committee of the Renfrew ball in New York have been compelled to so far modify their arrangements for that occasion. as to reduce the number of tickets for ladies one quarter, after a careful measurement ofthe area of the Academy of Music and a comparison of this with the expanse which would be covered by seventeen hundred and fifteen ladies in full dress. Allowing, on the average, each lady a circle of five feet in diameter (which is the smallest space within which a properly dressed woman would think of contining herself,) and awarding the spherical triangles formed by the touching of these magic circles to gen tlemen, it must be admitted, says the World that the new regulation is based upon a judicious computation of the capacity of the

THE EFFICACY AND SIGNIFICANCE OF SI-LENCE.—One thing is noticeable in Garibaldi. He makes no speeches, indulges in no proclamations, and has kept clear of all gaudy rhetoric! How different from Mazzini and Kossuth, and the generality of agitators-men whose patriotism evaporates in

The mouth is the great safety-valve for sedition and rebellion. Ireland would have been revolutionized long since but for the fatal gift of eloquence in her sons. The pent-up steam of disaffection, instead of beng suffered to accumulate in volume sufficient to rend and uphenve the political fabric, was suffered to blow of in noisy vaporings. So it has been to Italy, so in Ger many, so through all Europe. Lamartine and the orators were the escape pipes through which the fires of the French revontion of 1848, ready to deluge, with Vesavius eruptions, all Europe, found a harmless vent. We do no underrate the danger of disunion to these states. But while the yawning maw of Yancey is open, and the rhetoric of Rhett blows off, there will be no need to Thomas and the rhetoric of Fear. It was dumb Cromwell and the silent William that created the two revolutions in England. The talking Bonaparte, Lucien, was nobody; Washington was no speech maker; and now comes Garibaldi, who never made a speech to complete the list of of the state of set was and the silent was no speech to complete the list of set was a speec er made a speech, to complete the list of effective revolutionists.

In the great crush of people that came down to the dock to "welcome" the Prince of Wales at his landing in Detroit, one man got wedged against a fixed table so closely that to save his ribs he crawled under and

Douglas vs. Douglas and the Missouri Compromise.

From Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill., 1860. From Deuglas' Speech in Springfield, III., 1860. The Missouri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of our plorious Union—on origin akin to that of the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.—All the evidences of public opinion at that day seem to indicate that this compromise had become cannaized in the hearts of the American people as a sucred thing, which no radiless hand would ever be reckless enough to disturb."

From Douglas' Speech at Providence, Aug. 3, 1860. My friend over there—friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri Compromise. (Cheers.) I have not the slightest objection to telling him all he desires to know upon that question. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPEAL THE MISSOURI RESTRICTION.

How Non-Intervention Works.

"I believe that it is the right of the south to demand and the duty of congress to extend, protection of persons and property of every kind (including states) in the territories during their territorial state."—Herschel V.

From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 15, 1800. From Eouglas' Speech in the Scante, May 15, 1800.

"It is part of the listory of the country that under this doctrine of non-intervention, this doctrine that you delight to call squatter sovereignly, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected slavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have converted a tract of free territory into slave territory, mare than fire times the six of the state of New York.—Under this doctrine slavery has been extended from the Rio Grande to the Gulf of Chilfornia, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 36 deg.—30 mile., but up to 58 deg.—giving you a degree and a half more stare ferritory than you ever claimed."

Mr. Douglas' Speech at Chicago.

Mr. Douglas' Chicago speech is largely tinctured with his favorite topic, the negro, He has a great deal more to say about this subject than any thing that concerns white men. Homestead laws, tariffs, harbor improvements, Pacific railroads, are ignored to enable him to play upon the prejudices of the people against the African race. We hear that Mr. Douglas complains that he can get nothing done in congress on account of the everlasting discussion upon the negro question. If he had never opened that question by the repeal of the Missouri compromise, it would not now occupy public attention. If he would set the example of speaking upon some other subject, while he electioneers for himself, it would not be so much the topic of political discussion among the people.

If Mr. Douglas, and his followers, would not continually misrepresent the republican sentiment upon this subject there would be much less said in relation to it; but he never states the question fairly. It always suits his purpose to weave into his speeches the charge that republicans intend to use the power of the federal government to abolish slavery in the states. This is not true. The most radical republican states are those which insist most firmly upon the "rights of the states," and of construing the constitution strictly where powers are given to the central government. We don't believe that the federal government can free a single slave except in the capital of the nation. Slavery in the states belongs to the states to manage. But however it may be managed we are quite sure that slavery will be abolished in all the states, by the states themselves, because they will at last find it unprofitable, and a hindrance to progressive civilization.

We attack slavery and denounce it as harbarous because we believe it to be so, and because the south insists that it shall be introduced into the territories of the nation. According to the constitution, we have the right to exclude it, if we think it "needful" and "proper" is do so. The people of the United States are sovereign over their ter- me.

ritories, just as the state of Wisconsin is sovereign over the counties and townships within its borders. The people of the territories cannot govern themselves as they please, any more than the people of a county can govern themselves as they think best. in defiance of the constitution and the laws of a state. Mr. Douglas does not believe suits his purpose to talk about the right of len. the people to govern themselves in a territory. If he thinks so, why did he provide, in the Nebraska bill that the people of that our mind, to advertise; giving a description territory should not have the power to elect of such real estate, personal property, goods their own executive officers or judges, nor and chattels as may readily occur to our the right to make their own laws, except by mind. two-thirds vote, if a federal governor shall disapprove of them? By what right did he legislate in congress at all for the people of the territories, if they are sovereign? If be believed so much in popular sovereignty why did he not permit the people of Nebraska and Kansas to elect their own local officers, instead of giving the nomination of a large proportion of them to a federal governor? The high sounding words of Mr. Douglas in relation to popular sovereignty are not well supported by his acts as a senator; and his sincerity upon this subject may well be doubted.

When Mr. Douglas comes to this state. We hope he will spare the feelings of his friends Barstow, Dewey, Coon and Fairchild. when he alludes to this (delicate, subject.-We warn him that these gentlemen, in 1849, beld and advocated the doctrine of free and equal suffrage," which, of course in cludes the negro. In fact the whole party were then pledged to this doctrine, and Mr. Barstow went so far as to publicly declare that it, with other free soil principles equal- like canter of any pony alive, keeps himly radical, "should AT ALL TIMES govern the | self, his saddle and carriage. action of the democratic party." Mr. Douglas must be cautioned on the subject, and not to denounce the negro as much as he is of the fresh dew-laden earth and flowersin the habit of doing, as the party is at this when I get that pony of mine? time committed to negro suffrage in Wis-

STATE RIGHTS IN A DEMOCRATIC COURT -Judge McArthur of the Milwankee circuit court, has made a decision maintaining the rights of the state in the person of Mr. Fairchild, receiver of the Horicon R. R. appointed in his court, against the federal government, in the person of Mr. Ward, appointed by Judge Miller. We are informed, says the Free Democrat, by those who heard the opinion, that it is a very able argument in vindication of the states rights principle, being in most respects in harmony with the celebrated decision of Judge A. D. Smith, made on an issue between state and federal power.

And now the Schurz slander has run its length, and got down to the grade where it belongs; the Madison Patriot publishes it. There it will stop. There is no sheet with so little regard for its own character as to copy it now that the Madison " slangwhangadopts it .- Milwankee Sentinel.

FROM PANAMA.—An armed body of rebels attacked the city of Panama on the 29th ult. The skirmish lasted three hours, when the rebels retreated to the woods having learned of the landing of troops form Britisn and American vessels of war. The rebellion originated in an attempt on the part of the government to force recruits into the army.

OREGON.-The latest accounts from Oreon state that the logislature continued adourning from day to day without a quorum. There is a rumor of a contemplated fusion between the Douglas and Breckinridge democrats, by which the latter should return to the senate, on condition of the election of a senator from each of the divisions of the party. These two parties have each nominated an electoral ticket.

We regret to learn that the Delaan Journal has been suspended for want of the right kind of support-paying subscribers and advertisers.

American soil is all free at this day.-Douglas speech at Chicago. Is the soil free which is tilled by slaves?

This is a strange assertion, and about as true as the greater part of the speech.

The Democrat quotes what it says is "mean" authority, to prove that the Douglas demonstration at Chicago was a thinks just as I do, or nearly so, and helps brilliant and imposing affair. We are not me so much with my studies, especially in suprised that the Democrat chooses that French and Latin, and without progresskind of evidence.

Now, although I have given such a particular account of the exterior appearance of the house and its surroundings, yet, being somewhat fearful that it may not be readily recognized, and consequently myself nformed of its whereabouts, I think proper to give a more minute description of its interior arrangement.

First is a small kitchen-for we'll enter the back door, which is nearest the garden where we've been—there is the dining room, cool, oil-cloth carpet, and refrigerator in one corner, within which a peep reveals a pitcher of golden cream, a benevolent glass dish of rose-hued strawberries, ready for tea, and a large piece of ice-for you must know that our residence being only about a Sabbath day's journey from some city, can very readily be supplied with this last mentioned article, for which we are very grateful this sultry weather. And these rooms are in such excellent order, so nicely kept, for we've also one of the nicest Bridgets in the world.

Then there are three or four sleeping rooms above, looking so comfortable with custains, washstands with the simple but indispensable paraphernalia of the bath, windows lowered from the top, seemingly, of Lealthful sleep and pleasant dreams provoc-

Now descending, you will lastly perceive my favorite sitting and reading room, parlor and library—all in one. It is a large, or good sized room, of course, and a door opens from it onto the front piazza. Here, by this window, I have my convenient little rkstand with its needful appointments in this corner, between these two windows, stands my writing desk, over which is a small-it may be-but well selected library. Near by, upon the other side of the window is my colian, upon which, certainly, I should not care that a musical connoisseur should hear me playing, but still I can orbo sinas hass.

This is where so many pleasant hours scribbling.

A FIENDISH ACT.—A POUND OF VITROIL Thrown in a Man's Face!—Yesterday about 11 o'clock a woman named Mary Conner, or O'Conner, called at a millinery establishment on Illinois street, just north make it chord passably with my voice while of the Bates House, kept by a man and his singing soprano, and with—somebody else wife named Barger, and perpetrated a deed of fiendishness that we have scarcely ever known equalled. From what we learn from This is where so many pleasant hours common rumor it sppears that Barger and are passed in studying, social converse and Mary Conner had lived together illicitly for everal years, but that latterly Barger had got married to another woman. Mary feelng incensed, probably, at her abandonment, concluded to have revenge, and yesterday procured a pound of sulphuric acid at a drug store for the purpose of gratifying her vengeful spirit. After leaving the drug store she emptied the acid from a tincture jar into a bowl and covered it with paper, and with the destructive liquid in that shape she went to Barger's store, where meeting him she dashed the full contents of the bowl in his face. He was immediately blinded and made helpless, and in the ex citement and confusion of the moment the woman made her escape, and had not been every remedy applied that could be made available. The action of the vitroli, of course, was instantaneous. In a few minutes the skin of the face peeled off, taking the whiskers, eye brows and eye lashes with it. One eye was rendered entirely sightless, and it will always be so, and the other will probably be destroyed. Wherever the acid ran the skin came off, and the neck and upper part of his body were rendered perfectly raw. Mr. Barger's clothes were eaten up with the acid-his shirt and vest going into shreds whenever touched by the hand.

A more fiendish act we have never been called on to record. Whatever may have been the provocation for vengeance, on the woman's part, no such act can be justified. Murder outright would have been more tol erable. Scalding water, repeatedly applied, would have been less cruel than a single dash of vitroil. Slow torture by fire is pleasant feeling when compared with the effects of sulphuric acid.—Indianapolis Journal, Oct. 5th.

Douglas vs. Douglas and the Missouri Compremise.

From: Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill. 1860. The Missouri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of our glorious. Union—on origin akin to that of the constitution of the United States, conceivto that of the constitution of the United States, conceiv-milin the same spirit of Internal affection, and calcula-ted to remove forever the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.— All the evidences of public upinion at that day seem to indicate that thus compromise had become concentrated in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to From Douglas' Speech at Providence, Aug. 3, 1863.

My friend over there—friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri Compremies. (Cheers.) I have not the slightest objection to telling him all he desires to know spon that question. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPEAL the missouri ERSTRICTION.

How Non-Intervention Works.

"I believe that it is the right of the south to demand "I believe that it is the right of the south to denated and the duty of congress to extend, protection of persons and property of every kind (including slaves) in the tri-vitories during their territorial state."—Herschel V. Johnson.

From Donglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1860 From Donglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1850

"It is part of the history of the country that under this doctrine of non intervention, this doctrine that you delight to call squatter accretingly, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected alavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have converted a tract of free territory unto stave territory, more than five times the rise of the state of New York—
Under this dectrine stavery has been extended from the Ric Grande to the Gulf of California, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 38 deg. 30 min., but up to 88 deg—graing you a degree and a half more stave territory than you ever claimed."

Mr. Douglas' Speech at Chicago.

Mr. Douglas' Chicago speech is largely tinctured with his favorite topic, the negro He has a great deal more to say about this subject than any thing that concerns white men. Homestead laws, tariffs, harbor improvements, Pacific railroads, are ignored to enable him to play upon the prejudices of the people against the African race. We hear that Mr. Douglas complains that he can get nothing done in congress on account of the everlasting discussion upon the negro question. If he had never opened that question by the repeal of the Missouri compromise, it would not now occupy public attention. If he would set the example of speaking upon some other subject, while he electioneers for himself, it would not be so much the topic of political discussion among the people.

If Mr. Douglas, and his followers, would not continually misrepresent the republican sentiment upon this subject there would be much less said in relation to it; but he never states the question fairly. It always suits his purpose to weave into his speeches recently invited him to visit Boston. In the charge that republicaus intend to use accepting the invitation he communicated the power of the federal government to abolish slavery in the states. This is not true. The most radical republican states are those which insist most firmly upon the | thank you for the honor you do me. When | See how he drives them all before him!" A more fiendish act we have never been called on to record. Whatever may have been the provocation for vengeance, on the woman's part, no such act can be justified. Murder outright would have been more tolerable. Scalding water, repeatedly applied, would have been less cruel than a single dash of vitroil. PUMPS.-We have just been shown, by Mr. L. L. Thempson, one of May's patent pumps altered by leaving off one of the valves and some other slight alterations; demonstrating that a pump can be made to operate with one valve only, and may perhaps save a little cost in making, but whether any material advantages will be gained by omitting one of the two valves, remains to be seen. Mr. Thompson is a thorough mill-wright by trade and is devoting his time in putting into operation May's WindiMills and Pumps in this part of Wisconsin. These pumps are now made in Milwaukee. Why are they not made in this city? Capitalists and property holders here should bear in mind that manufacturing is one of our most important elements of the growth and prosperity of this city. Mr. T. would prefer having all his work done here, but has not the capital to do so. We think those most interested in the growth and business of our city ought to look into this matter of increasing home manufactures.

Convicted.—August Quast was tried. and convicted in the Dodge county Circuit Couri on Tuesday last, at Juneau, for placing obstructions on the track of the Chicago and North Western railroad some time last summer, a few miles south of Watertown. The prisoner was sentenced to two years imprisonment in the State Prison at Wanpun. The prosecution was conducted by district Attorneys Pease and J. J. Enos, Esqs., of Watertown, and the defence by James H. Knowlton, of this city.

A MARIPOSA ITEM.—Col. Fremont has settled with the California authorities in relation to his property, which for several years he has refused to pay. The assessment of 1855, '56 and '57 was placed at $50,-000 per year, the aggregate upon which was $2,550, which was immediately paid to the county by Col. Fremont. Taxes subsequent to '57 have been paid. The Colonel's assessment this year is $235,000.

GOV. RANDALL'S APPOINTMENTS.—We are authorized to state that Gov. Randall will address the people on the political issues of the day at the following times and places. Richland Centre, Friday, Oct. 12; German, and a young man of industrious Jefferson Saturday. Oct. 13: Fox Lake, habits. We know Mr. Hiles, and helieve Monday, Oct. 15; Green Bay, Friday, Oct. 19; Appleton, Wednesday, Oct. 24; Menasha, Thursday, Oct. 25; Neenah, Thursday, Oct. 25.

Carl Schurz made a German speech in Erie last Saturday evening, which convinced a number of his countrymen, who were Douglas men, of the error of their ways, and they are now working for Lincoln and freedom.

A Colored Man Knighted by Queen VICTORIA.-The Queen of England has conferred the honor of knighthood upon Edward Jordon of Kingston, Jamaica, a colored man, the son of a man who kept a sweetmeat and pickle store. Through a long life he has been a consistent advocate of the rights of the African, an active supporter of the emancipation movement, and more recently a useful representative of the people in the legislative assembly of the Island. Sir Edward Jordon is now Premier of Jamaica and President of the Privy Council.

At the Methodist conference in Dexter, Michigan, on the 29th ult., a resolution was passed censuring Rev. A. Gore for leaving his appointment, after three weeks work, without the consent of the Presiding Elder. One member stated that the brother went to his circuit with the intention of doing his work, but some misunderstanding arose between him and his charge, and he remained there three weeks without a house, and the 4,60a4,90 for spring extras. Corn was in good demand sum total of supplies furnished him amounted to two pounds of batter and a bag of apples. Not being able to live on apple butter alone, the brother got discouraged and left.

The abolition party is rent in twain .-William Goodell has bolted the nomination of Gerritt Smith for the presidency, on the ground that Gerritt is not sound in his relizious views.

A singular warning to our fashionable exquisites—so large a number of whom consider a defective pronunciation of the letter 'r' the best "pwoof of awistocwatic aweeding'—has recently been afforded by oweeding"—has recently been afforded by action brought agains: one of the species for libeling a highly respectable practitioner, residing in a country town. Wishing to accommend the doctor in question, and employing the elegant style of slang so much in vogue among his class, he said that "Mr. So and so was the crack doctor of the place."

Unfortunately however, his penniar distinguishing the said of the place of the Unfortunately, however, his peculiar distingue pronunciation of the 'r' made the speech sound so very like "the quack doctor of the place," that an action for damages was the only course left open to the doctor by which to vindicate his professional reputation.

WIND MILLS AND PUMPS .- Among the iost useful and practical machinery exhibted at the late state fair, was the self-regu lating Automatic wind mills, invented by one of our own citizens, Mr. J. M. May.— The winds in this prairie country, almost as uniform as "trade winds," are yet to be made useful in propelling light farm and other machinery, especially for pumping water from deep wells—to an extent that will surprise those that have paid but little attention to the subject.

The necessity of a durable pump, to be operated with wind mills or otherwise, led the inventor to make a series of experi ments, resulting in the construction of a pump composed of two iron cylinders and two brass valves, with wrought iron gas pipe to conduct the water from the deepest wells, requiring but very little power.

Suction pipe, packing, bolts and pump-ing rods are wholly dispensed with; and this pump seems to be, as one of the Judges on machinery expressed himself, "sim-plicitly simplified." These mills and pumps vere exhibited at the fair by Mr. L. L Thompson, a thorough mechanist of this city, who informs us that they not only attracted a great deal of attention on the grounds, where they were in constant operation, but received the highest premiums awarded by the society, on operative machinery.

As an additional evidence of the value of the pumps, the next day after the fair Mr. Thompson put one in operation a few miles from Madison, in a well 126 feet deep—giving entire satisfaction. A large number of orders were taken, which will be filled from Milwaukee, where they are manufactured. -Democrat

ALEXANDER GRAHAM.—This gentleman is nominated for the assembly by the repub licans in the city of Janesville, and it is as excellent selection. Mr. Graham has had much experience as a legislator in the state of New York. He is a fine scholar, a pleas ant speaker, and a man of ready powers and fine debating tact. He will probably if elected, of which there is little doubt, be candidate for the speaker's chair, which se would fill with honor to himself and credit to the state. Firm, fair and impar tial, he is worthy of the place for which he is nominated.—Albany, Green Co. Times

FATAL MISTAKE .-- One of those terrible casualties which startle us as from a dream of security, occurred in Wood county a few days ago. Samuel Hiles, Esq., was hunt ing, and seeing an object through some brush, mistook it for a deer, and with fatal aim fired, killing a man instantly, the ball passing directly through his head. We have not been able to learn his name;—he was he realized all those painful emotions which a person of a generous and impulsive na-ture would feel, upon being the innocent cause of so terrible a calamity. - Wisconsin Pinery, Sept. 28.

Douglas vs. Douglas and the Missouri Compromise.

From Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Itl., 1850. From Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill., 1850.

The Missourl Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of our glorious Union—on origin akin to that of the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.

All the evidences of public opinion at that day seem to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no rubbles hand would erer be reckless enough to disturb.

From Douglas' Speech at Providence, Aug. 3, 1860. My friend over there—friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri omrromise. [Cheers.] I have not the slightest objecquestion. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPEAT THE MISSOURI RESTRICTION.

How Non-Intervention Works.

"I believe that it is the right of the south to demand and the duty of congress to extend, protection of persons and property of every kind (including slaves) in the territories during their territorial state."—Herschel V.

From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1860. From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 15, 1860.

"It is part of the history of the country that under this doctrine of non-intervention, this doctrine that you delight to call squatter sovereignty, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected slavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have converted a tract of free territory into slave territory, more than five times the size of the state of New York—Under this doctrine slavery has been extended from the Rio Grande to the Gulf of California, and tron-the Rio Grande to the Gulf of California, and tron-the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 38 deg.—30 min., but up to 88 deg.—30 min.

Mr. Douglas' Speech at Chicago.

Mr. Douglas' Chicago speech is largely tinctured with his favorite topic, the negro-He has a great deal more to say about this subject than any thing that concerns white men. Homestead laws, tariffs, harbor improvements, Pacific railroads, are ignored to enable him to play upon the prejudices of the people against the African race. We hear that Mr. Douglas complains that he can get nothing done in congress on account of the everlasting discussion upon souri compromise, it would not now occupy public attention. If he would set the example of speaking upon some other subiect, while he electioneers for himself, it would not be so much the topic of political discussion among the people.

If Mr. Douglas, and his followers, would not continually misrepresent the republican sentiment upon this subject there would be much less said in relation to it; but he never states the question fairly. It always suits his purpose to weave into his speeches the charge that republicans intend to use the power of the federal government to abolish slavery in the states. This is not true. The most radical republican states are those which insist most firmly upon the "rights of the states," and of construing the constitution strictly where powers are given to the central government. We don't believe that the federal government can free a single slave except in the capital of the nation. Slavery in the states belongs to the states to manage. But however it may be managed we are quite sure that slavery will be abolished in all the states, by the states themselves, because they will at last find it unprofitable, and a hindrance to progressive civilization.

We attack slavery and denounce it as barbarous because we believe it to be so, and because the south insists that it shall be introduced into the territories of the nation. According to the constitution, we have the right to exclude it, if we think it "needful" United States are sovereign over their ter- me.

ritories, just as the state of Wisconsin is sovereign over the counties and townships within its borders. The people of the territories cannot govern themselves as they please, any more than the people of a county can govern themselves as they think best, of a state. Mr. Donglas does not believe they can, any more than we do, although it Vernon's property is either strayed or stosuits his purpose to talk about the right of len.

ry. If he thinks so, why did he provide, in territory should not have the power to elect their own executive officers or judges, nor the right to make their own laws, except by mind. a two-thirds vote, if a federal governor shall disapprove of them? By what right did he legislate in congress at all for the people of the territories, if they are sovereign? If | "among the missing," viz: he believed so much in popular sovereignty why did he not permit the people of Nebraska and Kansas to elect their own local officers, instead of giving the nomination of a large proportion of them to a federal gov- ly kept garden, where one may find almost ernor? A FIENDISH ACT.-A POUND OF VITROIL THROWN IN A MAN'S FACE!—Yesterday about 11 o'clock a woman named Mary Conner, or O'Conner, called at a millinery establishment on Illinois street, just north of the Bates House, kept by a man and his wife named Barger, and perpetrated a deed of fiendishness that we have scarcely ever snown equalled. From what we learn from common rumor it appears that Barger and Mary Conner had lived together illicitly for several years, but that latterly Barger had got married to another woman. Mary feelng incensed, probably, at her abandonment, concluded to have revenge, and yesterday procured a pound of sulphuric acid at a lrug store for the purpose of gratifying her vengeful spirit. After leaving the drug store she emptied the acid from a tincture ar into a bowl and covered it with paper, and with the destructive liquid in that shape she went to Barger's store, where meeting him she dashed the full contents of the bowl in his face. Prups.-We have just been shown, by Mr. L. L. Thompson, one of May's patent pumps altered by leaving off one of the valves and some other slight alterations; demonstrating that a pump can be made to operate with one valve only, and may perhaps save a little cost in making, but whether any material advantages will be gained by omitting one of the two valves. remains to be seen. Mr. Thompson is a thorough mill-wright by trade and is devoting his time in putting into operation May's Wind Mills and Pumps in this part of Wisconsin. These pumps are now made in Milwaukee. Why are they not made in this city? Capitalists and property holders here should bear in mind that manufacturing is one of our most important elements of the growth and prosperity of this city. Mr. T. would prefer having all his work done here, but has not the capital to do so. We think those most interested in the growth and business of our city ought to look into this matter of increasing home manu factures.

One member stated that the brother went to his circuit with the intention of doing his work, but some misunderstanding arose between him and his charge, and he remained there three weeks without a house, and the sum total of supplies furnished him amounted to two pounds of butter and a bag of apples. Not being able to live on apple butter alone, the brother got discouraged and left.

A singular warning to our fashionable exquisites-so large a number of whom exquisites—so large a number of whom consider a defective pronunciation of the letter 'r' the best "pwoof of awistocwatic Cup; Bridal Wreath, Netts bweeding"-has recently been afforded by action brought against one of the species for libeling a highly respectable practitioner, residing in a country town. Wishing to recommend the doctor in question, and employing the elegant style of slang so much in vogue among his class, he said that "Mr. So-and so was the crack doctor of the place." Unfortunately, however, his peculiar distin-que pronunciation of the 'r' made the speech sound so very like "the quack doctor of the place," that an action for damages was the only course left open to the doctor by which to vindicate his professional reputation.

WIND MILLS AND PUMPS .- Among the most useful and practical machinery exhibted at the late state fair, was the self-regulating Automatic wind mills, invented by one of our own citizens, Mr. J. M. May.—
The winds in this prairie country, almost as uniform as "trade winds," are yet to be made useful in propelling light farm and other machinery, especially for pumping water from deep wells—to an extent that will surprise those that have paid but little attention to the subject.

The necessity of a durable pump, to be operated with wind mills or otherwise, led the inventor to make a series of experiments, resulting in the construction of a pump composed of two iron cylinders and two brass valves, with wrought iron gas pipe to conduct the water from the deepest vells, requiring but very little power.

Suction pipe, packing, holts and pump-ing rods are wholly dispensed with; and this pump seems to be, as one of the Judges on machinery expressed himself, "sim-plicitly simplified." These mills and pumps vere exhibited at the fair by Mr. L. L. Thompson, a thorough mechanist of this city, who informs us that they not only attracted a great deal of attention on the bath has been abolished (after one convict grounds, where they were in constant operation, but received the highest premiums awarded by the society, on operative ma-

As an additional evidence of the value of the pumps, the next day after the fair Mr. Thompson put one in operation a few miles from Madison, in a well 126 feet deep-giving entire satisfaction. A large number of orders were taken, which will be filled from Milwaukee, where they are manufactured.
